

EPEPS 2022

The Design and Analysis Frontier for Electronic Packaging

31st Conference on Electrical Performance of Electronic Packaging and Systems

October 9th to 12th, 2022, San Jose, CA

31st IEEE International Conference on Electrical Performance of Electronic Packaging and Systems
October 9-12, 2022, San Jose, CA, USA

EPEPS is the premier international conference on advanced and emerging issues in electrical modeling, analysis, synthesis and design of electronic interconnections, packages and systems. It also focuses on new methodologies and CAD/Design/Measurement techniques for evaluating and ensuring signal, power and thermal integrity in high-speed designs. EPEPS is jointly sponsored by the IEEE Electronics Packaging Society, the IEEE Microwave Theory and Techniques Society, and the IEEE Antennas and Propagation Society.

EPEPS will be an excellent forum to highlight the latest advances in the high-speed and high-performance semiconductor industry. It is expected that over 175 participants from industry and universities will engage in the 3 full day conference, to be held during Oct. 9-12, 2022 in San Jose, CA, USA. The forum offers a great opportunity for sponsorships and for related companies to build their brands in this leading international platform. Sponsors will be given high visibility on the EPEPS web site and social media, prominent placement of their logo/info in the conference proceedings, access to the EPEPS conference technical programs and training sessions, and premium display booth locations.
